Cover Photograph: "1928 Highgrove Baseball Team"

Baseball was a wonderful pastime for many back in the day. It gave the local men involvement in an enjoyable outing with their co-workers and friends. Teams were usually sponsored by the citrus growers/ packing houses of the area where the team called home. This 1928 team was sponsored by the L.V. Brown Packing House, located in Highgrove. The name of the team was Mahula, named after an orange packed by the workers at the packing house. Team members consisted of (back row–standing left to right), Leonard Vasquez (Manager), Felix Calderaz, Santos Martinez, and Pablo Calderaz. Men kneeling (left to right), Luis Zamora, Thomas Hernandez, Jesus Elisarraraz, Leon Raya (holding baseball bats–left to righ behind Leon Raya), Alfonso Martinez, Tacho Martinez, Juan Martinez, and (behind Juan Martinez), Trinidad Ceballos.
